

ARI Impacts on Army National Guard by State

ARI Impacts Overview

Primarily impacts 9* Apache states and 1 Kiowa Warrior state

Significant loss of Attack/Recon capability from the Army

Impacts non-flying unit structure in 6 other states (HQ, Maintenance, ATS)

Impacts additional states if they cross level structure and aircraft to mitigate losses in the 10 Attack and Recon states.

Often reported that RC retains 12 Avn Brigades – implying no RC loss, but RC loses 3 O6/O7 HQs, 5 flight Bns (net), and 3 additional Bns

Two States trade MEDEVAC for Utility structure (gain 1 aircraft) – resolution of old issue rolled into ARI changes

*1 of the 8 Apache Bns is split between 2 States

Major Structure Movements

Icons are ARNG formations. Patches are AC units. Dates are E-dates.

Arrows between units reflect generalizations of how ARNG ARB inactivations support AC HARS conversions. 1ID's initial set becomes Korea set. Aircraft transfers from ARNG ARBs are not unit-pure; tail numbers are identified based on Block and age, and moved from multiple locations.

- ARNG Force Structure changes nest within the HQDA ARI Plan and support timely stand-up of AC Heavy Attack-Reconnaissance Squadrons (H-ARSS).
- Proposed acceleration of last two ARNG Assault Helicopter Bns (AHB) activations helps preserve continuity of personnel authorizations (mitigation measure) and stands-up AHB capability quicker.
